Leather or Wicker hanging Armchair

Hanging Chair

Being partly suspended, eventual slight swinging, springing, not completely grounded, take us back to our childhood and awake the surprise of something unusual. Hammocks have this drawing power too ... and we like being unusually detached from the floor! It is an adult's return to the pleasure of the swing! For centuries suspended chairs have bedded native latin americans. It was Christopher Columbus who first introduced them to Europe. I have tried to find an object in which the construction and the materials match and that appeals to us in their simplicity. Leather, precious wood, cushions. These swing armchairs may be put indoors. There are bigger items that need an area protected from bad weather: porticoes, patios, covered balconies, loggias. Outdoor furniture for your porches and outdoor life. Those lucky enough to have these outdoor protected spaces know how pleasantly they can live in them, eat, read, listen to music ... observe!
